

The piano

by Yasin, 2024

(Piano)

0:00

Most people get pleasure from hearing my voices.

0:07

Generally, my gender is unknown. I'm neither man nor woman, but I feel the emotion of whoever plays me. I was invented centuries ago. I am a very popular instrument for domestic use, such as private homes, churches, and orchestras. I was made of wood, strings, and metal rods to produce sounds, but with the development of industries my body materials have changed.

0:40

I have many black and white keys, and the sound that I create in the human mind has many meanings. Playing or listening to my sound will give you a pleasant feeling in your soul and I will connect your soul to heaven.

1:19

My aim is to bring happiness and pleasure to those who loved me, but sometimes people use me in sad moments to at least forget their frustrations. Life is like me. I have black and white keys in the same way life has happy and sad moments. And humans must have both happiness and sadness in their lives to perform a beautiful and perfect symphony. So, don't let dust lie on me at any time, and use me always to bring pleasure to your family, friends, or yourself, and to get away from sadness.

1:58

I am a piano. Playing me or listening to my tune will provide you with emotional, physical and social benefits. Each of these benefits affects your life, your soul in a positive way.